Our offer:

Become an integral part of the most cutting-edge Integral Conference in Europe: the 3rd Integral European Conference 2018, May 22-27 in Siófok, at Lake Balaton, Hungary. Support our conference titled „Allies of Evolution“ and drive your own organization's success as our esteemed sponsorship partner. Gain visibility for your products and services for a large, international audience (5-600 people) coming from 40 countries and 5 continents: Europe, North-America, South-America, Asia and Africa.

About the Integral European Conference in 2018

Integral European Conferences are the premier venue for the global integral world to get together and exchange information, knowledge, and experience. Held every two years on the European continent, IECs are not only a huge social catalyst where international integral collaborations begin, enabling our human capital to grow, they also have a mission based on integral principles.

Integral conferences represent a high concentration of energy that impact participants in the long run. This is due to the evolutionary orientation of the attendees: they have a deeper connection with the Cosmos, sensing how it evolves and unfolds in sequential stages of development. Evolution occurs not only in the physical exterior, but also in the subjective interiors: in human consciousness, relationships, and social collectives such as businesses, organizations, and societies. We are entering an era of collective awakening, where greater freedom, connectedness, goodness, love, and creativity can unfold. But this also makes for a time of greater complexity that is a challenge: how do we organize and work together in a new way that meets our principles?

From personal and spiritual growth to business and organizational life to larger social collectives like international dynamics and world politics, we see evolution unfolding in all aspects of life. As we work on our inner growth, from separated egoism to a more compassionate and creative interconnected way of being, we naturally reflect the issues of our times in society and politics from a deeper place. We feel that renewal in the next stage of evolution is essential for the political situation in Europe, America, and the larger international field. And evolution is not always straight: it involves curves and temporary regressions, such as the rise of the populist right with its ethnocentric, authoritarian rule in countries that have already been well established in democratic process, open societies, and postmodern values. Are we in progression or regression? What is happening? Who are we? What is next?

We need to keep reflecting on the current situation, and it is intense. From terrorism in the EU and Brexit to Charlottesville in the US, we need an alliance of evolutionary integralists who can think, reflect, and co-create in their respective fields of expertise and interest. It is a time that calls for action more than ever before!
